Question List

Question 1 of 75

When does an individual have an insurable interest in the life of another person? 什么时候一个人对另一个人的生命有可保利益？

- ☒ The individual depends on the other person for financial support.
一个人依靠另一个人的财务支持
- ☐ The individual will succeed the other person as president of an organization.
- ☐ The individuals share a common interest in community affairs.
- ☐ The individuals have a common ethnic heritage.

Insurable Interest: Requires that an individual have a valid concern for the continuation of the life or well-being of the person insured. Without insurable interest, an insurance contract is not legally enforceable and would be considered a wagering contract. Insurable interest only needs to exist at the time of the application (the inception of the contract).

可保利益：要求个人对被保人的生命或健康的持续性的合理担忧。没有保险利益，保险合同就无法依法执行，将被视为下注合同。可保利益只需要在申请时存在（合同成立时）。

What is the performance of an Equity index annuity based on?

- ☐ Age
- ☐ Gender
- ☐ Index-linked interest
- ☒ S&P 500

Correct

Correct Answer: S&P 500 标普500指数

An equity index annuity is a type of tax-deferred annuity whose credited interest is linked to an equity index, usually the S&P 500. The S&P 500 is an index of 500 stocks intended to be representative of a broad segment of the market. (1062)

Which statement best describes how the Return of Premium (ROP) rider works on a term life policy?

- ☐ If the insured dies during the term of the policy, this rider will result in the beneficiary receiving the death benefit plus the premiums paid over the term.
- ☒ The policyowner will receive all or a portion of the premiums paid in over the life of the policy if the insured is still living at the end of the policy's term.
- ☐ The policyowner will receive the death benefit plus the premiums paid over the term if it is not used for anything else.
- ☐ When the insured dies, the death benefit will result in the beneficiary receiving the death benefit plus the premiums paid over the term.

Correct

在保单结束之后被保险人还在世，保单所有者可以拿回全部或部分保费

Correct Answer: The policyowner will receive all or a portion of the premiums paid in over the life of the policy if the insured is still living at the end of the policy's term.

The Return of Premium (ROP) rider on a term life policy will return all, or some portion of, the premiums paid into the policy if the insured is still living at the end of the policy's term. Adding this rider to a term policy can increase the policy's cost by 25 - 50% or more. (1978)

每个风险单位的保险价格称为费率

The price of insurance for each exposure unit is called the:

- ☐ Adjustment factor
- ☒ Rate
- ☐ Package
- ☐ Premium

Correct

Correct Answer: Rate 费率

An exposure unit is a fixed unit of insurance coverage (usually $100 or $1,000) used for pricing.

Rate refers to the price for each exposure unit (e.g. $2.50 / $1000 of coverage).

Premium = # of exposure units X rate

Question List Question 52 of 75

An automatic premium loan, found only in cash value policies:

在保费没有支付的宽限期the grace period之后，这个条款会自动启动，用保单中的现金价值支付保费。

☐ Is used to pay off consumer loans.

☒ Will pay a premium that is due by using the policy's cash value.

☐ Will pay a premium that is due by using the policy's cash value immediately then the policy lapses.

☐ All of the above are correct.

Correct Answer: Will pay a premium that is due by using the policy's cash value.

If the Automatic Premium Loan (APL) provision has been elected by the policyowner in a cash value life policy, it will cause a loan for the amount of the premium due to be taken against the policy's cash value when the current premium has not been paid and the grace period has expired. The purpose of the APL provision is to prevent the policy from lapsing due to a premium not being paid. (1086)

Question List Question 53 of 75

Which of the following is an express authority of an agent in an agency agreement?

☒ Authority to represent the insurer.

☐ Authority to sell insurance.

☐ Authority to collect premiums.

☐ Authority to issue policies.

Correct Answer: Authority to represent the insurer.

Given the answer choices, the best example of express authority is "authority to represent the insurer." (Express authority means an agent has been expressly told he may act on behalf of a principal.)

All of the other answer choices are good examples of implied authority (i.e. actions that would be reasonably necessary for an agent to carry out his job as an agent of the insurer) stemming from the agent's express authority to represent the insurer. (1024)

Correct

Correct Answer: Common disaster provision

The Common Disaster Clause is a provision commonly found in life insurance policies that states when it is impossible to determine if the Insured or the Primary Beneficiary died first as the result of a common accident, the Insured will be presumed to have survived the Primary Beneficiary. This prevents the policy's death benefit from being paid to the Primary Beneficiary's estate and, thus, protects the Contingent Beneficiary's interest. (1174)

- ☒ Evidence of insurability is not required for conversion to permanent insurance
- ☐ Whole life insurance is required for conversion to permanent insurance
- ☐ Adopted children are not covered under the policy

Correct

Correct Answer: Evidence of Insurability is not required if conversion is made to permanent insurance for those children. 如果将这些孩子的保单转换为永久保险，则不需要提供可保性证据

A Family Life Policy combines Whole Life with Term Riders to cover ALL family members in a single packaged policy. The Children's Term Rider under a Family Life Policy allows for conversion of a child's term coverage to permanent insurance (usually at age 21) without the need for evidence of insurability. (1298)

- ☐ Decreasing term.
- ☒ Renewable term.
- ☐ Convertible.
- ☐ Level term.

Correct

Correct Answer: Renewable term.

A renewable term life insurance policy allows the policy to be renewed at the end of the policy term for a new term without the insured being required to reapply or take another medical exam. While no additional underwriting is done at renewal, the premiums will increase to reflect the insured's current age. (2083)

- ☒ A variable annuity
- ☐ A tax sheltered annuity
- ☐ A stock annuity
- ☐ Annuity

Correct

Correct Answer: A variable annuity 变额年金

With a variable annuity the premiums are invested in sub-accounts made available by the insurance company. These sub-accounts are somewhat similar to mutual fund-type accounts. As such, the performance of these sub-accounts will fluctuate over time causing the value of the variable annuity to fluctuate. (1042)

An individual with a low income and high insurance needs should buy:

- ☒ Term insurance
- ☐ Universal life insurance
- ☐ Whole life insurance
- ☐ Endowment insurance

Correct

Correct Answer: Term insurance 定期寿险

Since term life insurance is "pure" life insurance (i.e. it provides no cash value, just a death benefit if the insured dies), it can provide the largest death benefit for the smallest premium. So someone with a low income but high insurance needs should probably purchase term life insurance. (2084)

- ☐ 20-year term life insurance policy

Correct

Correct Answer: Term life insurance policy

"Ordinary insurance" or "ordinary life" is just another name for whole life insurance. It can also be referred to as straight life.

Whole Life = Ordinary Insurance = Ordinary Life = Straight Life

Of all the answer choices, the one that clearly jumps out as not being a type of whole life (ordinary life) is the term life insurance policy. (1550)

What is the limit of liability in a term life insurance policy?

Correct

☐ The t

☒ The f

☐ The t

☐ The f

Correct Answer: The face amount of the policy.

The Limit of Liability (aka Measure of Liability) is the amount that the insurer is obligated to pay out upon the insured's death under the life policy. For instance, if someone purchases a $250,000 life policy, the insurer's measure of liability would be $250,000 when the insured dies, assuming there is no outstanding policy loan at the time of death.

In this case, since the policy is a term life policy there can be no outstanding policy loan so the limit of liability would be equal to the policy's face amount. (1624)

When premium payments on a whole life insurance policy are being waived because the person whose life is insured is totally disabled, the actual effect on the policy's cash value will be to:

Correct

- ☐ Maintain the cash value
 - ☐ Adjust the cash value
 - ☒ Provide for the continued increase in the cash value during the period of disability
 - ☐ Reduce the cash value on account of the premium being waived
- Correct Answer: Provide for the continued increase in the cash value during the period of disability
- Firstly, you need to figure out that this question is dealing with the Waiver of Premium rider. When premiums for a life policy are being waived under the Waiver of Premium for Disability (WPD) rider the dividends and cash value continue, and all features of the policy remain in force, even though the insurance company, not the owner, is making the premium payments.
