Question List Question 1 of 75

Collateral assignments on life policies are most often used for:

- ☐ settlement provisions
- ☐ life settlements
- ☒ bank loans 银行贷款
- ☐ beneficiary changes

① Absolute assignment 绝对转让
When the assignee receives full control of the policy and rights to the policy benefits from the current policyowner. 当受让人获得对保单的完全控制权并从当前保单所有者获得保单权利时。

② Collateral assignment 抵押转让
The partial and temporary transfer of rights to another person or entity. Collateral assignments are usually intended for securing a loan with a creditor. A collateral assignment is one in which the policy is assigned to a creditor as security, or collateral, for a debt.
将权利部分或暂时转移给另一个人或实体。抵押转让通常旨在确保向债权人提供贷款。抵押转让是指将保单作为债务的担保或抵押转让给债权人的一种抵押。

The face amount of a mortgage redemption life insurance policy

Correct

☐ increase

☐ decrease

☐ increase

☒ decrease

Correct Answer: decreases to match the principal amount owed under a mortgage loan.

Decreasing term life insurance can be designed to match or approximately equal the outstanding balance of a mortgage (or any other type of loan with a decreasing balance). Typically, the premiums will also decrease as the coverage or face amount decreases.

Decreasing term life policies specifically designed to cover a mortgage go by names such as, Mortgage Protection, Mortgage Life and Mortgage Insurance and Mortgage Redemption Life. (2094)

投资型万能寿险

Correct Answer: Variable life insurance

Variable life insurance policies are named so because when premiums are paid into the plan, the portion of the premium that is allocated to the investment portion of the policy will "vary," as it is subject to the up and down fluctuations of the underlying equity market. It is important to note that investment markets can both rise and fall. With this in mind, it is possible that the value of a variable life insurance policy's investment component could fall if the underlying investments perform poorly. (2154)
