Survivorship Life Policy: second-to-die policy
双方都去世了，受益人拿到死亡理赔

☒ Joint life policy
☐ Universal life policy
☐ Family limited partnership
☐ Survivorship life policy

Correct

Correct Answer: Joint life policy.

First-to-Die policies (aka Joint Life policies) are life policies which insure two or more lives (e.g. spouses) and pay out the death benefit upon the death of the FIRST insured.

One of the advantages of life insurance policies that cover two or more lives (e.g. First-to-Die policies and Second-to-Die policies) is that it is significantly less expensive compared to having separate life policies on each insured. (1586)

- ☐ It keeps the insurer from canceling the policy if, after 2 years, there is a discovery of error, concealment, or misstatement by the policy owner.
- ☐ All the above.

Correct

Correct Answer: It keeps the insurer from canceling the policy if, after 2 years, there is a discovery of error, concealment, or misstatement by the policy owner.

The Incontestability Clause says that after TWO YEARS from the date of issue of the policy, no misstatements, except fraudulent misstatements, made by the applicant in the application for the policy shall be used to void the policy or to deny a claim for loss incurred commencing after the expiration of the two-year period. Correct

Correct Answer: Level

Whole life insurance is based upon the level premium concept in which excess premiums are charged during the early years of a whole life policy to offset the deficiency in the premiums in the later years when the insured is older and the cost of insurance would be higher. With compound interest, the whole life policy will accumulate a reserve (i.e. cash value) equal to the face amount of the policy when the insured reaches the maturity date for the policy (e.g. age 100 or 121). Correct Answer: The contingent or secondary beneficiary

The Common Disaster Clause is a provision commonly found in life insurance policies that states when it is impossible to determine if the Insured or the Primary Beneficiary died first as the result of a common accident, the Insured will be presumed to have survived the Primary Beneficiary. This prevents the policy's death benefit from being paid to the Primary Beneficiary's estate and, thus, protects the Contingent Beneficiary's interest. (1175)

- ☐ disability

Correct

Correct Answer: annuity

年金有2个阶段：积累阶段 和 年金化阶段 (也就是领钱阶段)

Annuities have two phases (or periods) - the Accumulation phase and the Annuitization (aka Liquidation or Distribution) phase. The insurer's obligation during the Accumulation period is to invest the premiums paid in by the annuitant. Conversely, its obligation during the Annuitization phase (Liquidation or Distribution phase) is to pay out the money to the annuitant, usually as a stream of income. (1063)

c. 雇主是policyowner(保单持有人)，员工只能拿到certificate
d. 每个员工的最高保额为$50,000，若超过$50,000，员工就需要交税。

Correct

保险公司和雇主

Correct Answer: The insurer and the employer.

The parties to a group insurance policy are the insurer (issuer of the policy) and the employer (buyer of the policy). While the employees, and possibly their dependents, are afforded coverage under the group policy, they are not actually considered parties to the contract. (1386)

Which of the following is true regarding an aleatory contract?

☒ If there is a loss, the insurer would pay out considerably more compared to the insured's premium. Correct

☐ The insured's premium is considerably more than the insurer's payout.

☐ It can be either a small premium or a large claim payment.

☐ The insured's premium is considerably more than the insurer's payout.

Aleatory contracts, such as insurance contracts, are based upon an UNEQUAL exchange between the parties (i.e. small premium vs. large claim payment).

Furthermore, performance under an aleatory contract is based on a CONTINGENT or UNCERTAIN future event (e.g. house burning down may or may not happen). (2037)

保险合同的这种射幸性质是由保险事故的发生具有偶然性的特点决定的，即保险人承保的危险或者保险合同约定的给付保险金的条件的发生与否，均为不确定。

Correct Answer: Contributions are compulsory for most workers

With all social insurance programs, including Social Security, contributions are compulsory. By making contributions mandatory or compulsory through a payroll tax (i.e. FICA), the longevity of the program is enhanced. If workers did not have to contribute to Social Security, the program would lack the resources necessary to pay out benefits and would quickly become insolvent. (2025)
